Dear Mr. Ruby,

I don't know whether or not I should be writing this to you, because I don't want to make your mind any more troubled than it is. I'm sure that the events of the last few days have terribly upset you, as they have every American, and with the added pain and sorrow you must feel, this letter may only act as salt on the wound.

But I've got to write if only to put down on paper the way that I feel about the death of Lee Oswald.

Perhaps in all the confusion of interrogation no one really explained to us, as we, the American people, suffered so great a blow at Oswald's passing.

We loved our President, too. The national mourning in shocked realization of our great loss shows this only too clearly my personal feelings are those of utter bereavement because the spark of youth and fearlessness has been taken from our country.

John Kennedy stood for justice and the American way of life. As his survivors, the United States citizens wanted to show their love for him by a steadfast hold on that justice. But your personal revenge has deprived them of this final tribute to his memory. And in Communist countries (where even our ideals are distorted in an effort to blacken our name) the rash deed will be used to discredit America's democracy — the very democracy he had pledged his life to uphold.

But to me there is still another reason for our sorrow at Oswald's death.

As I watched with a heart-sick nation the funeral and burial of our President, the terrible realization came to me that now he is gone forever—his leadership, integrity, ambition and guidance are no more.

But if Oswald was still alive, we would yet have something to cling to, a slim thread that could have told us why. Of course now that door is closed to us, never to be reopened. We have lost again.

John Kennedy is completely gone and already rock and roll is back on radio, the stores are again open, a life has become history and people are beginning to forget.

Through laws everyone of us can take part in our government, and be symbolically represented in every official act. When one person breaks a law, everyone suffers the consequences. This time the suffering was great.

I will pray for you,
Mr. Ruby,

My letter is on behalf of Jack Ruby.

My opinion and the opinion of a great many people here wish that Jack Ruby be free.
What he did was love for the president and his family, he has great love for his country.
Oswald was no good anyway,
assassination of the president,
shooting a policeman.

Oswald deserved his punishment.
If Ruby gets out and hope and pray he does no more he could read the letter.

The best thing for him to do is go to church and see a priest to hear his confession and really forgive it. Ruby is innocent of all charges against him.

Dear Mr. Ruby:

I felt I must write along with the others to express my views on your actions.

According to the laws of our country, no man is guilty until proven guilty. According to this you had no right to take the life of another man. Then too, two wrongs don't make one right.

I too feel, from what I have heard, that President Kennedy's assassin was Oswald, but the courts, or the law of our land, had not yet proven it and even if they had already, you had not the right to "Play God" and take his or any man's life.

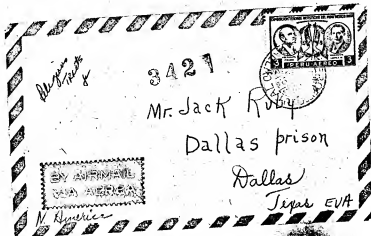

Too much shame had already been brought on Dallas, our country and our laws, you merely increased it.

However, though many evidenced your murder of Oswald, even you aren't guilty until proven so by the courts of our land, I believe.

I pity you and other people like you, who condone your actions. I feel everyone who does condone your actions are guilty almost to the point that you are for evil thoughts are almost as bad as evil deeds.

I am not without sin myself so therefore dare not condemn you for your actions. I merely felt I must write and say "May God's Will Be Done" in this whole terrible thing.

I also feel that though we may not know why the assassination of our President was permitted to

Mr. Ruby:

Upon hearing the news that you have received several letters expressing gratitude for your killing Mr. Lee H. Oswald, we would like to inform you that we most ardently oppose this attitude.

Presuming that you are an enlightened citizen of the United States of America -- if not enlightened, at least a true patriot since you killed the man who tried to subvert the system of these United States by assassinating its Chief Executive -- presuming the above, we will allow ourselves to bring to your attention some vital points in this matter:

- a.) A citizen of the United States takes part in governing the country through his vote and freedom of speech only. A citizen has freedom of action only to the extent it does not harm the existent social and legal system of the nation, i.e. freedom of action does not allow one to kill another person, except in some cases of self-defense.
- b.) That you, being a citizen of the United States and having the privilege to vote in the world's first and greatest democracy, that you did not observe the very essence of democracy should give you material for some reflection upon your fulfillment of your duty as a citizen.

Undoubtedly, many persons can understand your emotional instability caused by the violent death of the late President John F. Kennedy. But, very few true citizens of this democracy can accept that you "took the law in your own hands" and acted as a self-appointed judge without hearing any evidence, and performed the subsequent execution of Mr. Oswald.

Such an action may be more subversive and dangerous to the free institutions which this nation cherishes than the very error of Mr. Oswald which you "corrected."

Your anarchistic act is deeply regretted and abhorred.

Very truly yours,

We read in our local paper that you were interested in knowing if the people approved of Lee Harvey Oswald's death.

Since you are not in a position to find out, we went to the trouble to make our own inquiry on the subject. Almost 99% thought it was the worst thing that could have happened and did not approve.

As you read this we hope you will realize the many, many innocent people you killed or put a mark on for life. Think of you with of the lady in Chicago watching T.V. last Sunday morning.

who witnessed your act and died within the hour of a heart young children aged 8 and 9 years old as they came in from Sunday town in Iowa and saw the film on T.V. They asked their parents

"why did that man kill that other man?"

We in Dallas have to live and explain your act to the world. We are not sure of the answer to give - was it because Lee Harvey Oswald knew you - was it for notoriety - or was it for Mrs John Kennedy, Caroline and John Jr.?

we wanted you to know that your killing of Lee Harvey Oswald was not approved.

Mr. Ruby,

You may feel happy in getting all those letters your lawyer mentioned on T.V. Sunday, about how great a person you are for the cold blooded shooting of deacons, but I happen to be one of the "cranks" that think you are enjoy lit as bad as deacons!

You had no right in taking the law into your own hands; the lawyers and courts are to handle people who break our laws; not you.

Dear Mr. Ruby:

Although you have received letters from people congratulating you for the murder of Lee Oswald, most Americans deplore your live television murder.

Your murder of Oswald makes it hard now for the police to get all the facts needed. (Many of us suspect you shot Oswald to shut him up.) Also, in America a man is innocent until proven guilty and convicted in court, so you shot an innocent man.

You deserve to be convicted of first degree murder.

All Europe Suspects Oswald Was 'Silenced'

LONDON (UPI)—The European Press, both Communist and non-Communist, viewed dark suspicions Tuesday that the entire truth had not been told in the assassination of President Kennedy and the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald.

There was widespread condemnation of the Dallas Police Dept. for allowing television coverage of Oswald and ex-president of investigation at what the London Daily Telegraph called the "unmerciful slaying" of Dallas Police Chief Jesse Curry's declaration that the Kennedy case was being "closed" with Oswald's death.

In Paris, the Paris Press and in Milan, the Corriere Lombardo said the Corriere office, known in the Italian army during World War II as the "28 model", could not fire those bullets as rapidly as Dallas reports would indicate and killed another person might have been involved.

However, shortly Bill Decker said in Dallas three shots from the bolt action rifle could have been fired in less than 20 seconds by a skilled marksman. Corriere Lombardo estimated each shot would require at least 10 seconds.

Soviet newspapers immediately sought to dispel indications of "Marxist motives" and to place blame on "ultra-rightist" hysteria in Texas. Soviet newspapers in Western Europe blamed the Communists. Two Cairo newspapers blamed "Zionists."

Radio Free Europe mentions in Munich said internal in Communist newspapers in Moscow, "The Communist Daily Worker" called it "the city of assassinations."

The Czech Trade union paper Prase speculated that Ruby was a member of Cosa Nostra. Radio Sofia and Radio Tirana contended the acts were carried out by persons who wanted to promote the civil war and racial discrimination.

In Rio de Janeiro, newspapers blamed Mr. Kennedy's assassination on "racist hysteria." Corriere de Matina said Oswald's death was due to the "narrowly and cupidity of the police force of a small city." Ultima Hora said Oswald was killed "so he could not tell the truth."

The Hamburg Die Welt said police handling of the Kennedy case and the Oswald case left a "forest of questions mark." The London Daily Mail told of "whispers" that Oswald was a test who was liquidated.

Criticism was also directed at Texas. Manchester's Guardian said the house of "big-headed booby and broad-brimmed hair" never again will seem funny.

The Dallas Sketch called Dallas a "city of evil, cattle and violent death."

The Communist Daily Worker called it "the city of assassinations."

"The killing of Oswald closed nothing except the main doorway, till then still open, to the whole truth," said the London Daily Telegraph. "It opened the door to every sort of power and imagination that evil men can invent to serve their own ends."

The Daily Mail said Soviet reaction begged the question: how could the rest of the country doubt that Oswald was the only or even the real assassin? It said Oswald's murder raised suspicion that and the evidence against him made ready, his extraordinary end."

In the Hague, the Dutch newspaper Algemeen Dagblad said the "terrible consequences" of the Dallas police cast another shadow across the whole affair and said by pardoning "America's most hated man" before television they opened the door to all sorts of suspicions.

In Germany, the Hamburg Echo said "Dallas police had an understandable interest in protecting any suspect as quickly as possible, while the rest of the country doubts that Oswald was the only or even the real assassin." It said Oswald's murder raised suspicion that "would make Mr. Kennedy's assassination a gang plot."

The Frankfurt Abendpost said Chief Curry's declaration "the case was closed was 'wild' and asked, 'what was closed? Nothing'."

The West Berlin Berliner Morgenpost said police were checking to see whether Oswald was killed to keep him from talking and said "it is possible that Ruby silenced Oswald to cover the men, behind the (assassin's) plot."

In Paris, the newspaper

Now that the pulse of the world has resumed a beat of normality, the questions and opinions of self-appointed theorists and inept experts are heard where ever one goes. I claim neither title Mr. Roby, except being a rather saddened American.

History has been re-written in Dallas and you certainly are a part of it Mr. Roby. Your act was secretly cheered by many, but when given time to reflect, the cheers turned to disappointment. Oswald did not get his day in court.

Many questions surrounding the 'blackweekend' will never be known. One still remains to be answered - but this can be realized if you
